[redacted] have exerted in support of the Symposium which was held on 2 May 1968 at the National Bureau of Standards. You have received comments of appreciation from many sources, including Mr. Duckett, but we should not let it go by without expressing our appreciation for a job well done.

2. All of you may feel that it was carried out within the regular performance of your duties, but your willing acceptance of additional responsibility was exercised and did not go unnoticed. Thank you again; we are most appreciative of your services.
